Teeanna Munro (she/her)

Teeanna Munro is the Project Coordinator for the Black Perspectives Office (BPO). Her role most directly serves our Black students at Concordia University and she leads the BPO's student programming. Teeanna has over 12 years of community organizing and building experience across communities in Vancouver, Montreal, and San Francisco. Key highlights of her career include being the founder and co-designer the Justice Program at DESTA Black Youth Network, as well as Captive Minds where she created popular education workshops for Black youth on understanding the prison industrial complex and systemic anti-Black racism and connected Black youth with incarcerated mentors through their pen pal program.

Teeanna holds a Bachelor's in English Literature from Concordia, 2016, and after completing her Master's in Teaching and Learning (McGill, 2018), Teeanna worked in Nunavik, Quebec as a secondary teacher and classroom management coach. As a first-generation university student, community organizer, and teacher, Teeanna's approach and work is very much guided by equity and dismantling all forms of oppression and systemic discrimination in the educational system so that Black students can thrive as their authentic selves.
